What is the Lincoln Essay & Drawing Contest?

The Lincoln Essay and Drawing Contest was established by Mary Bowditch Forbes, the granddaughter of Captain Robert Bennet Forbes, in circa 1924. Ms. Forbes greatly admired President Abraham Lincoln, and in 1909 began a collection of Lincoln and Civil War memorabilia, which is now part of the Museum's permanent collection. To promote appreciation for our 16th president, Ms. Forbes requested original essays and drawings from students each year, inspired by the life and work of Abraham Lincoln.

Today, the Museum continues the tradition, and sends an annual request for essays and drawings from students throughout Milton and Greater Boston. Each fall, the FHM Lincoln Committee, comprised of Museum Trustees, K-12 educators, Lincoln historians and Civil War enthusiasts, meets to debate and select a question or topic. This question/topic is then released to the public, and the student must use the question/topic as the subject for her/his essay or drawing.

Individual student submissions are encouraged; The FHM Lincoln Essay and Drawing Contest was established as a civic exercise challenging students to excellence outside the scope of their regular school work.

However, K-12 educators are welcome to introduce the essay and drawing question/topic to their students as part of a classroom lesson or unit of instruction. A submission of individual essays and drawings, gathered into one package by an educator, is accepted and encouraged.

A first, second and third place winner is chosen among the entries for each grade level. Essays are accepted from students in grades 4 through 8; drawings are accepted from students in grades Kindergarten through grade 3.

A prize of $25 will be awarded to the first place winner of each grade level through the generosity of the Milton Village Office of Citizens Bank. Thank you, Citizens Bank! All winners will receive a free Family membership to the Forbes House Museum, along with some surprises!

The awards ceremony is held each year at Forbes House Museum. One or two winners of the essay contest are usually asked to read their essays to the guests.
